

HEALTH 2020 FOR RURAL POPULATION

with focus on increasing diversity of rural regions' population and its health, public health, occupational health impacts

Conference of the International Association of Rural Health and Medicine (IARM) in cooperation with the University of Pécs Medical School

24-26 August 2020, University of Pécs Medical School, Hungary

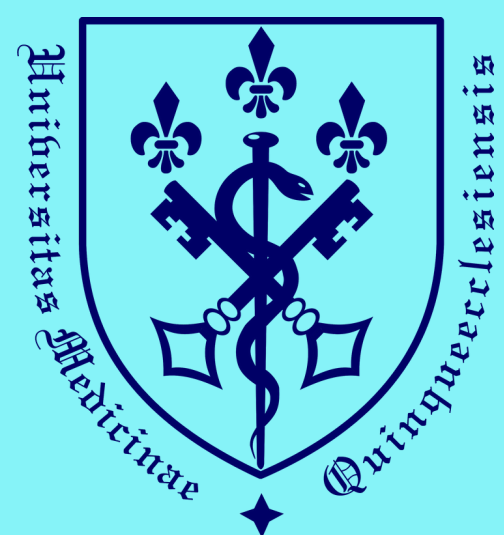

PANELS AND SECTIONS

- Primary health care in rural regions with the following subsections:
organization of primary health care in rural, remote regions; pediatric care in rural regions; immunization of rural population.
- Health status and access to healthcare for migrants living in rural areas:
provision of interculturally competent health and social care in rural regions; mental health challenges in rural areas with diverse population; occupational health and diversity
- Ethnic minorities living in rural areas - with special focus on Roma population
- Ageing in rural areas: challenges and good practices
- Health promotion and health education in remote villages
- Challenges of pharmaceutical supply in rural regions
- The role of NGOs in assisting the health of rural population

Keynote speeches

Country level reports: Japan, South Korea, Germany, India, Italy, Sweden, Serbia, Hungary

Apply at <http://www.ruralhealthpecs2020.hu>

WHO Collaborating Centre for Migration Health Training and Research

APPLICATION PERIODS AND FEES:

Early bird: February – March 250€
#2: April – May 300€
#3: June – August 350€
On location: 400€
Application with presentation: end of May